President and Cashier of Oberlin Institution Are in Charge of Deputies.

CARNEGIE'S NAME USED ON NOTE

Matters at Cleveland Have Taken a New Shape.—Many Important Questions Have Now Developed.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)
Cleveland, O., Dec. 5.—The two notes, one for a million and the other for a quarter of a million, which have been mentioned in connection with the Oberlin bank and Chadwick case, bear the signature "Andrew Carnegie." The smaller note was found in the Oberlin bank and now is in possession of the United States government authorities at Cleveland.

The Note
The smaller note reads: "January 7, 1904. One year from date I promise to pay to C. L. Chadwick or order $250,000 with interest at five per cent. (Signed) Andrew Carnegie."

Is Endorsed

This note is endorsed on the back by C. L. Chadwick. The note for a half million is supposed to be in a safety deposit box of President Beckwith of the Oberlin bank. A subpoena of Robert Lyons, receiver of the Oberlin bank, was issued by District Attorney Sullivan this morning ordering him to appear at the preliminary hearing of Beckwith and Cashier Spear and bring all the Carnegie or Chadwick securities found in the bank. The vital question now is: "Are these notes forged?"

Officials Arrive

President Beckwith and Cashier Spear of the Oberlin bank arrived here this morning at ten o'clock, in charge of federal officers and were taken at once to the office of the United States commissioners. Beckwith could have secured a release on $10,000 bail, but preferred to go to Cleveland at once. He said: "Take me to jail and let me face the worst, I have friends left and may as well go to jail now as later." The two men will be arraigned before Commissioner Starek. "If proved guilty they are liable to imprisonment of from five to ten years.

Not Guilty

When taken before Commissioner Starek, Beckwith and Spear both pleaded not guilty, and waived examination and were held in bonds of ten thousand dollars each.

Spanish Government in Trouble Over Having Furnished Coal to the Fleet.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)
Madrid, Dec. 5.—The government officials have held a long conference over the protest filed by Japan because the Spanish government permitted the Russian battle fleet to call at Vigo. No details of the discussion have been given the public.

GREEK PEASANTS CUT TO PIECES

Bulgarians Capture Them and Then Chop Them Up with Axes.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)

Monastir, Dec. 5.—Eight Greek peasants who were captured by the Bulgarian revolutionists near Svoritz have been cruelly massacred. They were cut to pieces with axes.

FATHER SEEKS TO KILL HIS SON WHILE ENRAGED

Young Man Endeavors to Take Drunken Son Home, but Leaves Him When He Falls From Wagon.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)

Sioux Falls, S. D., Dec. 5.—France Welter, a well-known Jerauld county farmer, has been arrested on the serious charge of attempting to assassinate his son, Joseph. The father and son up to the time of the attempt on the latter's life resided together on a Jerauld county farm.

They had been to town, where the father became intoxicated. The son was endeavoring to induce his father to go home and had succeeded in getting him into the wagon, when the old man, either by accident or design on his own part, fell out of the vehicle. He was bruised quite badly, and became very angry.

Thinking nothing serious would result, the son returned home and was sitting at a window, when his father suddenly put in an appearance outside the window. This was some hours after the fall of the old man from the wagon.

Welter was armed with a shotgun, and without a word of warning he fired through the window at his son. The charge struck the windowshash, or the son would have been instantly killed. As it was, his arm and side were filled with shot. The attempted slayer of his own son furnished cash bond for his appearance at the next term of the state circuit court.

Train Kills Aged Couple.
Norfolk, Neb., Dec. 5.—Theinhus B. Ayres and his wife, each 50 years, were run down and killed by a freight train near Meadow Grove.

Governor Fights Fire.
Olympia, Wash., Nov. 18.—The city of Olympia had a narrow escape from destruction by a fire which destroyed the Hotel Olympia. Gov. McBride was among the volunteer fire fighters. Loss, $60,000.

Muscatine, Iowa, Dec. 5.—Seth Godfrey, Leith Godfrey and Grover E. Els were drowned while attempting to cross the Mississippi river. Ice floats stove in their boats.

JAMES TYNER HAS GONE TO REWARD

Ex-Postmaster General and Late Advisor of the Department Died Today.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)
Washington, Dec. 5.—James N. Tyner, the former postmaster general, died at his home at nine-thirty-five this morning. He was the head of the postal department under Grant and was removed from office as assistant attorney general of the postoffice department last year, and afterward indicted together with his nephew, Harrison J. Barrett, on the charge of conspiracy in connection with the use of the mails by alleged "get-rich-quick" concerns. Of this charge he was acquitted.

BUFFALO BANK IS IN DIFFICULTIES

German Bank Forced to Close Its Doors Because of the Run on German American Bank.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)

Buffalo, Dec. 5.—The German bank of which President Emery of the German-American bank is also president, closed its doors this morning owing to a run on the bank.

VOTING MACHINES FOR INDIANA

Proposed Law Will Make Them Pay for Themselves.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)

Laporte, Ind., Dec. 5.—A bill is being drafted for presentation to the legislature which convenes in January to put voting machines into each of the ninety-two counties of the state and to make them operative for the election of 1906. Congressman Landis is also interested in the movement, which is said to have the endorsement of every congressman-elect in the state. The bill will propose that payment for the machines be made on the installment plan, a payment to be made each two years equal to the amount saved the taxpayers.

"THE FATHOMLESS WORD;" A SERMON

In vital union with God is lost because he has cut himself off from the source of life.

Capacities of Nature

"Fourth, do I live in all the capacities of my nature? God made us in His own image and intended for us all the beauty and the glory of his own character. If we refuse to live the side of our natures which looks out towards God we are lost to our higher capabilities. A potato which grows in the cellar has life; but it is a pallid and ineffectual life. Helen Keller once lived a darkened and imprisoned life, and she was scarcely conscious of it, for she knew nothing better. Today she stands crowned with knowledge, culture and grace. A Christian civilization has saved her from ignorance, spiritual helplessness and despair. Christ comes to complete our lives, to give us life abundantly. If we withhold ourselves from Him we are lost because we are lost to pleasure, to hope and to the highest mortal power.

Serviceable to God

"Fifth, am I serviceable to God? In His purpose all things serve some useful end. The sun diffuses light. The insects carry pollen on their wings and fructify the flowers. Even the dust atom helps the air to retain its moisture and the sunshine to point the glory of the sunset. And man, chief of God's creatures, has for his task the extension of the kingdom of heaven upon earth. If he does not the work of God he is cast without a savior which must be thrown out and trodden under foot of men. He is a tree without fruit which must be cut down and thrown into the fire. If I do not promote the better life among men I am lost.

The Message of Hope

"These facts should awaken in Christian people a deep solicitude. They should impel to prayer and to every effort of love. And if any are lost, they should inspire the guest of salvation. Today as in the olden time the friend of the publican brings his message of hope. 'The Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost.'

MANY WILL GO TO ANNUAL MEETING

State Teachers' Association Meet in Milwaukee the Last Part of This Month.

Indications are that the session of the Wisconsin State Teachers' association which will open Dec. 28 in Milwaukee will be the best attended meeting which the association has ever had, and it is now expected there will be fully 1,500 teachers for the meeting. The program which has been arranged for the session is one of the best that has ever been proposed for the organization, and the business sessions will be particularly interesting because of the important matters for the benefit of teachers which will come up. There promises to be an interesting contest for the presidency of the association and several candidates are already being mentioned for the office. Among them are Prof. McLenegan of the East Side High school, Milwaukee; Assistant Superintendent A. E. Kugel of the schools of Milwaukee, and President Pray of the Stevens Point Normal school. There is also a likelihood there will be a contest over the secretaryship of the association, it being generally understood that Supt. Thomas J. Cooper of the Ashland schools may be a candidate for this place, which is now held by Principal Thomas Boyce of Milwaukee. It is likely there will be considerable mention during the session of the question as to who shall be the next state superintendent of schools. An election for this place will be held in April and there is considerable talk that an attempt may be made to obtain from the state teachers' association an expression of the teachers on the subject. There are already indications that the book companies are taking unusual interest. In the association politics and some interesting gossip on this point may be expected after the lines are more closely drawn as regards the candidates.

Man is Lost Here
"The word 'lost' deals with a present fact. Jesus did not say 'will be lost,' but 'was lost.' A man cannot be lost in any other world for any different reason than he is lost here. God's universe is one and the same moral law is everywhere operative. The parables of Jesus are not mere photographs of future things. They are statements in dramatic story form, of principles true today and forever. Salvation and damnation are not so much terms of geography as terms of character. We may be sure in God's long future character and place will correspond.

State of the Lost Man

"There are five questions whose answers define the state of the lost man. First, what is the direction of my life? Direction is a matter of infinite consequence. Two roads reach the 'Y' they swerve to right hand or to left, and they soon speed toward one of two great geographical opposites. And continuation in direction means infinite separation. One man with helpful heredity is near the crest of the hill, but he is going downward. Another man, handicapped by early environment, is near the foot of the hill but he is going upward. In the day that is after tomorrow, one will reach the shadows of the valley, the other will stand on the brow of the hill. Do we grow better or worse? Are we more just, sympathetic, chaste, and fervent? Or are we more and more the slaves of our baser nature? Once we prayed but now God is far away. But if we depart from Him, if our natures are becoming less pure and less sensitive to his presence, the direction of our lives is wrong. We are lost.

Second of the Five Questions

"Second, am I committing sin? Sin is not merely a theological word, it is violation of law. And violation of law, whether spiritual or physical, means penalty. If I introduce typhus germs into my body I get the typhoid fever. If I violate my conscience, I put myself under the operation of the laws of spiritual death. Whoever continues in sin is lost and it cannot be otherwise. You must forsake sin or perish. You must break your guilty entanglements or die. The wages of sin is death, here and now, as well as in the distant future.

In Union With God

"Third, am I in vital union with God? The source of all life and light and strength is God. In Him we live and move and have our being. He is the sun without whom we drop and wither in darkness. He is the vine from whom as branches we derive all our life. If we are out of fellowship with God, we are like limbs disengaged from the tree. Our inevitable fate is death. Whoever's not

Easy Way to Save at Least $50 a Year

By securing the agency for Wadsworth Bros. "Chicos," Smith Drug Co. have enabled ten-cent smokers to save 5¢ on every cigar they burn.

The "Chicos" are every bit as good as any 10¢ cigar on the market, smoke free and even, and are good way up to the end. They sell for 5 cents straight, and are guaranteed to give satisfaction. If you don't like them, come back and get your money.

Mr. ten-cent smoker, every time you want a good cigar, smoke a "Chico" and then drop a nickel into your little savings bank, and you will soon have a nice tidy pile without knowing that you have been saving.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL ELOPES IN OREGON

Miss Cecilia Duke Mysteriously Disappears with A. J. Clark—Marriage License is Found.

Portland, Oregon, has been exercised recently over the elopement and marriage of Miss Cecilia E. Duke, formerly of this city, and Albert J. Clark of the firm of Clark Bros. florists. The disappearance of these two young people caused much apprehension until it was discovered that they had secured a license to wed. There was no opposition on either side to their marriage and their departure for unknown parts, leaving no message of any kind, was held to be most unaccountable. Miss Duke (now Mrs. Clark) is the daughter of W. K. Duke who formerly operated a large brick yard here, disposing of his plant to Field Bros. upon leaving the city.

KRAHMER-BRUMMOND NUPTIALS TOMORROW

Ceremony Will Be Performed at the Congregational Church Parsonage—Tin Shower Saturday.

Walter Krahmer and Miss Bertha Brummond will be married by Rev. Denison at the Congregational parsonage at ten o'clock tomorrow morning. They expect to leave on the noon train for Watertown where they will spend their honeymoon, returning thereto to make their home on McKey boulevard.

The prospective groom is employed in the Benson & Lane bakery and the bride to be has been a waitress at the St. Paul railroad lunch room. Saturday evening fifty friends of the couple participated in a tin shower given at the residence of a sister of the bride-to-be, Mrs. C. S. Brummond, 16 Armour street. The guests came laden with presents of tinware and a delicious supper was enjoyed.

SEASON OF BASKET BALL NOW OPENS

High School Boys Start Practice—Prospects Better Than Last Year.

From now on for several months basket ball will be the popular form of athletics in the high school. It was planned that the first practice would be held tonight and a general idea of the candidates for the team can be gained by those who are out. Probably there will be twenty-five or thirty to each practice, a portion of these will be trying for the second team as well as the first. Nearly all of the last year's five are back and intend to be in the race for places on the five this season. The veterans are: Sennett, Carle, Galbraith, Caldwell and Wright. The team will be led by George Sennett who was elected captain at the end of the season last year. Games will be scheduled with many of the fives with whom the locals contested in seasons gone by.

HAS STEPHENSON PULLED THE CORD?

Is the Marinette Statesman a Candidate for the United States Senate?

Madison, Wis.—Isaac Stephenson of Marinette, will be the administration republican candidate for the Wisconsin seat in the United States senate now occupied by Joseph Quailes of Milwaukee, providing that Governor La Follette is able to "cancel out" a few candidates that have sprung up within the ranks of his faction. It is well known that Mr. Stephenson, "Uncle Ike" as he is familiarly called, is the most substantial supporter of the La Follette faction, that he is personally loved by the governor and has placed himself in a position to "attract the senatorial lightning."

There has been no announcement by leaders of the La Follette faction that Mr. Stephenson will be the candidate, but there has as yet been no good opportunity for such an announcement, with several other La Follette aspirants in the field for the top offices. Since election a process of elimination has been pursued in the La Follette camp, apparently to get rid of the numerous candidates that have sprung up. A. R. Hull, the foreman of La Folletteism in the Wisconsin legislature, and to whom many of the faction turned instinctively as the logical candidate of the faction for the United States senate, has been brought out of the running with a statement that he would not accept the office. Judge Charles Webb of Grand Rapids has been eliminated by the publication that his election before the expiration of his term as circuit judge would be unconstitutional. Care, however, has been taken to let it be understood that there was nothing said by Governor La Follette during the campaign to preclude the possibility of his accepting the high position, and it is still a substantial possibility that the governor will be induced to become a candidate. A conference of La Follette leaders has been quietly called to meet here next Saturday and hints are passed among them in the administration following that the matter of the candidacy of Mr. Stephenson will then be tested.

It is understood that Governor La Follette prefers to remain in Wisconsin until the legislation for which he has been fighting—the creation of a railroad rate commission—has been secured, and that he will seek the senatorial seat of Senator John C. Spooner two years hence. However, it has not been denied that he is available as a candidate for the seat of Senator Quailes, and it is understood that unless it be determined that Mr. Stephenson cannot gather the votes of the administration members of the legislature, the governor will simplify the situation by becoming a candidate.

MARRIED IN ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Grove were married in Christ church, Marlebone, London, England, on Dec. 3, 1851. They removed to Janesville in 1868 and until recently Mr. Grove has been a trusted employ of the Doty works, where he was employed as a machinist. Mr. Grove was born in the west of England in 1830 and his wife was born in Kensington, London, in 1832. Her maiden name was Sarah Hobbs. Thirteen children were born, eight of whom survive.

The Children

The children are Benjamin Grove, who resides in London and is prominent in musical circles; Jane, who resides in Chicago with her brother, Dr. Morgan Grove; Mrs. Agnes Parson, who lives in Colorado; Mrs. Sophie Brockway, who lives in Boulder, Col.; Alderman Fred Grove, who lives in Janesville; Miss Jessie Grove who resides at home, and Ralph Grove who is a jeweler.

The Presentation

During the evening the ladies of the W. C. T. U. presented Mrs. Grove with a chair. Rev. Richard Vaughan made the presentation speech. The guests then sang "Blessed Be the Tie That Bind." Mrs. Baumgartner presiding at the organ. Miss Daisy Atherton recited. After several hymns had been sung the party said good-night. Mrs. Grove was a charter member of the local W. C. T. U. the organization that comprised the surprise party.

From All Over

Wallace C. Winter has resigned the general superintendency of the Chicago, Minneapolis and Omaha to become a member of a company dealing in railway supplies. His successor has not been announced.

The car shortage on Eastern roads is daily becoming more pronounced. The Pennsylvania and Lake Shore roads are now hardest pressed for cars, but no Eastern line has enough to meet the present demands of shippers. The shortage is mainly due to the unusually heavy shipments of iron and steel products and general merchandise, but from now on grain shipments will increase the tie on the transportation facilities of all lines. Some of the railway managers fear a repetition of the freight blockades of two years ago if the volume of traffic continues unabated.

Chief Klein Says That They Will Prevent Soot Gathering in the Chimneys.

Don't throw potato parings into the garbage box but put into the stove, and thereby save yourself from the annoyance of having to call the fire department to put out a chimney fire. Such is the advice of Chief Klein. "This damp weather we are having breeds favorable conditions for chimney fires," said the chief yesterday afternoon. "Indeed, I am surprised that the department has not been called out any oftener. It seems when the soot becomes damp it is more liable to originate fires by spontaneous combustion than in dry weather. All that we usually have to do is to allow a weight to drop down the chimney when the fire will burn itself out. Of course the chimney needs cleaning. If people would clean their chimneys regularly the annoyance of chimney fires would soon cease to exist. From personal experience I know that the burning of potato parings prevents the gathering of soot. I know of a family that is keeping up a strong soft coal fire in its kitchen range every day during the winter, but you can never find a trace of soot on the lids, the bottoms of kettles, or in any part of the stove. Potato parings are burned in the stove daily. Another effective method is the burning of pieces of zinc. I am not chemist enough to know, but it seems to me that the fumes generated during the combustion of the zinc prevents the gathering of soot. ## ...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, December 5, 1864.—Circuit Court.—The circuit court, his Honor Judge Noggle presiding, commenced its session this morning. The prospects of a short session are good.

The following is the list of Grand and Petit Juries as far as they have appeared and answered to their names:

Grand Jury: Leonard Brace, John T. Dow, L. H. Child, W. P. Ferris, Robert McKay, H. Anderson, W. A. Webster, John P. Dickson, W. Blanchard, R. S. Taylor, Isaac Leake, Simon Schooneover, Waterman, Lester, Wheldon Hughes, Daniel Lovejoy, A. E. Burpee and S. P. Hoskins.

Petit Jury: Malcolm Harper, J. H. Roberts, J. E. Young, E. J. Carpenter, William Schenck, John Austin, J. S. Dayton, Peter Schmidt, W. W. Rockwood, J. C. Jenkins, J. F. Antislell, T. Scogland and Jas. Irish.

Information Wanted.—Will the secretary of the Ladies' Aid Society please publish the names of the committees, in this city, for the distributions of funds for the soldiers' families. Many of us are in need and know not whom to apply to.

SOLDIERS' WIVES.

A London letter to a New York paper says that it is broadly reported there in financial and political circles that half the rebel debt is held in England, and if that is not paid eventually half the English money bags will collapse.

Some time since, says the Louisville Democrat, a woman by the name of Ida Robinson, who was a confederate spy, was captured by our forces and sent to Nashville. The military authorities of that place ordered her to go north and stay there during the war. She crossed the river and was doubtless thought to be there; a few days ago a soldier was arrested in Nashville, he proved to be the informer Ida who was dressed in male attire.

Result in Wisconsin.—The official election gives Lincoln 68,906, McClellan 62,994; Union majority, 6,512. The soldiers' vote is not all in yet.

A PLUME-DRAPE CHAPEAU

There is evident a very decided fancy for the chapeau smartly turned up at one side and a full ostrich plume to drage it. The one in the picture follows this style. Black moire velvet covers the shape, this disposed in violet folds around the drum-shaped crown, puffed easily upon both upper and under brim, with a band of the folds at either edge. There is a deep bandeau in the head size which serves to lift the shape off the face, giving it a very becoming upward tilt. The quill of the plume has a cut jet tebe finish, and this is thrust carelessly through the brim, a loose stitch or two holding the feather easily, but not stilly, to the side of the hat.

AMONG THE WORLD'S WORKERS

News Notes From Various Sources of Great Interest to the Workingman.

Japan has a federation of labor with almost 300,000 members, according to Australian labor papers, which go on to say that this organization has been struggling for improved conditions for the working class. In Japan, and its efforts are being rewarded by the enactment of a factory law regulating hours of labor, age of workers, etc., and compelling employers to be considerate of the health and safety of their employees.

He is an ass who starves himself to death—as thousands are doing, misled by foolish teachers—because their stomachs have become too weak through neglect or disease to do the work which nature has provided for them.

Because the engine is out of gear, would you consign it to the junk heap?

Why not? Mend it!

Commit slow suicide because your digestive organs are weak?

Certainly not! Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

One thing is as sure as shooting. You can never get a new stomach. You must mend it or it will lead you to a miserable existence.

The only way to mend it is to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

This has been practically and scientifically demonstrated by the many thousands whom Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have positively cured, after every other treatment or medicine, mineral waters, pills, and slow, suicidal starvation had failed.

These methods are all insidious—therefore fatal.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are scientific—therefore true, and successful.

Having cured so many thousands—many of whom doubtless have suffered more than you do—do we claim too much when we say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will surely do good to you?

Surely not. Especially when we make it plain that no promise is made to cure more than one disease—Dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a positive cure for just this one disease.

They are a scientific combination of ingredients which search out the weak spots in all the digestive organs and make them strong and well.

They have an immediate digestive action on undigested food, and thus, while curing weak organs, they at the same time help them to do their work.

They thus stand for all that is good. In the medical treatment of Dyspepsia and for nothing that is bad.

They are not afad but a fact. They are safe, pleasant, certain and permanent, and can be taken by the most delicate invalids without fear of harmful results.

Bills exactly opposite in their requirements will be presented to the legislature this winter. Both are regarding the proposition of labelling loaves of bread.

The Bakers' probably acting through the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, will ask for a law compelling bakers to place labels on

ISAAC STEPHENSON.

The letter of Isaac Stephenson, recently published is a confession of weakness which will be a disappointment to many of his old time friends.

The Steffen article was published by McCleure's in the heat of the campaign and was widely circulated as a campaign document.

It was a libel on the fair name of Senator John C. Spooner, and the name of Mr. Stephenson was used as authority for this libel. Why it was not refuted at the time is one of the mysteries which Mr. Stephenson fails to explain and why it is refuted now is capable of only one explanation, namely, Mr. Stephenson's ambition to enter the senatorial race.

It is perhaps true that Mr. Stephenson should have been sent to the senate six years ago. Many republicans believe that his selection would have saved the rapture in the party. Be this as it may, there is no reason why the Marquette lumberman should be recognized today and the effort which he is making to square himself with Senator Spooner's friends will simply dislodge them. Mr. Stephenson, by his silence, permitted the name of Senator Spooner to be besmirched, and nothing that he can say at this date will condone for this sort of negligence. He must look for his support to the governor with whom he has trained so faithfully, and while he is looking he may be consulted with the fact that Cooper, Webb, Coggers, Esch, and others are also out on the same kind of a chase.

The senatorial contest promises to be a marquee of unusual interest and the crowd of disinterested spectators, occupying the galleries, are promised plenty of amusement.

The state has a primary law but that seems to cut no figure and it is a question whether it would be recognized if Senator Quarles is nominated by it.

The laws of the state are capable of many constructions under the present administration and surprises are always in order. Mr. Stephenson and his constituents evidently expect to fight out the question before the legislature and a merry tinge is promised.

THE DIAMOND "TRUST."

The department of commerce has issued a very interesting report in regard to the South African production and the United States importation of diamonds. It is said in this report that the whole diamond business is "the closest and the most powerful of trusts, for not only is the trade conducted in an underground way concealed from all public scrutiny, but it seems to be managed independently of all custom houses intervening between Cape Colony and the United States." Surreptitious trade is now greatly favored by the secrecy with which business is conducted, values being declared in South Africa and concealed in Europe and the whole business being carried on independent of European official records.

The vast bulk of diamonds sold in world now come from South Africa, and the greatest market for these gems is in the United States. The people of this country, in possession of abounding prosperity, seem willing to spend their money lavishly, paying the highest prices for imported diamonds, imported wines and imported opera. It is a well known fact that no other trade responds more quickly to the varying conditions of general business than the jewelry trade, and the recent revival in business has produced a very active demand for gems and jewelry.

All the South African diamonds are exported to London and from there distributed to different parts of the world. In 1903 the total value of South African diamond exports to Great Britain was $26,491,013. In the same year the total imports of diamonds into the United States from all countries was $26,507,756 or slightly more than the total output of South Africa. It should be said, however, that of this total, $10,653,188 were uncut diamonds and $15,554,568 were cut diamonds which are necessarily of higher value. The great proportion of cut diamonds imported into the United States, or to be exact $7,458,732 in 1903, came from the Netherlands, which, having obtained the uncut stones from South Africa by way of Great Britain, cut them and then export them to other countries. The vast majority come to United States. It is estimated that there are over 7,000 expert diamond cutters required of supply the American demand. Our government is making an effort to get at the bottom of the trade in diamonds so as to prevent the surreptitious importation of the stones into the United States, and thus protect the home diamond cutting industry. The government has had some success in this as the imports of regular diamonds have increased from $2,517,759 in 1893 to $10,933,198 in 1903.

The Milwaukee Free Press has something, not much, to say regarding the recent letter of Isaac Stephenson in which he denied that he ever bought a Wisconsin legislature. Now Isaac can announce himself as a candidate for the United States senate as he is clean of all imputations of ever having bribed anyone.

It may be recalled that English critics have never seen anything wrong in the specific use of "American" and "Americanism" when applied to our variegated errors of manner or speech.

The Chicago Chronicle bears at the top of its editorial column the significant heading, "A Republican Newspaper."

When Tom Watson looks into the future he sees so many shocking experiences in store for the democratic party that it almost makes him scream.

Tom Taggart announces he is still a democrat. What is it Tom, Parkette, Bryantte, Watson or just plain non-committal Jeffersonian?

For lack of any better means of distracting attention from Port Arthur the Balkans are getting up a small war cloud.

Hunting with dogs, with the consent of the game warden, seems to be one of the privileges up in Langlade county.

The Foolkiller was rightly named. Too bad that Janesville could not buy a couple somewhere.

The election troubles in Colorado do not seem to have ended at the polls. Governor Peabody still insists he is it.

Those Turkish troops that are demanding their pay must seem to the sultan to be sadly lacking in patriotism.

By the time the Japanese get through their operations upon it 200-Meter Hill is likely to be shy several meters.

Mrs. Chadwick could not reach up into the air and get money, but that did not worry her, as she knew an easier way.

With the holidays only three weeks away the Christmas shopping problem begins to press for a solution.

It looks as though Young Corbett might have to fall back on the drama as a means of earning a livelihood.

Carnegie is anxious to get rid of his money, but not, by lending it to ladies with a taste for speculation.

Uncle Sam's next great reform will be conducted under the rallying cry, "Help keep the Cubans clean!"

The Boston Herald is learning that truth is the best policy even for a metropolitan journal to follow.

St. Louis has had its fun. The rest of the entertainment consists principally of headache.

It is a sad Christmas, the first one, that a child discovers there is no Santa Clause.

Frenzied finance seems to have attracted a member of the weaker sex here and there.

Mr. Watson still insists that he is the man to whom democrats should rally.

Tom Watson is already in the midst of the campaign of 1905.

Young Corbett can now take a place on the same shelf with old Corbett.

PRESS COMMENT

Racine News: How happy some of us would be if we worked as hard to secure a paying situation in private life as we do to crowd into a place at the public trough.

Sheboygan Journal: A 10-cent photographer is much wanted at Manitowoc by the 10-cent people who invested 10 cents apiece in pictures.

Green Bay Gazette: Solid ice heavy enough for skating is reported at Marquette and Menominee. The winter seems to have struck that part of the country in a bunch.

Racine Journal: Forty-four killed is the nasty record of the hunting season in this state just closed. This is the casualty out of the army of hunters.

La Crosse Chronicle: If the Nan Patterson nuisance is to have another holding of the boards the court ought to require a certificate of health from each juror so that the end might be had some time.

Milwaukee Sentinel: What an unfortunate thing it would be if one had to depend on the Hon. Isaac Stephenson for warning not to sit down on tack or team against a freshly painted barn door.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: This rather belated denial of the McClure article will serve to remind the public that there is small dependence to be placed in the sensational matter which Mr. Stevens writes.

Stoughton Hub: While it is probably true that the Dane county board of supervisors might finish up all necessary business in three days and go home, it is also true that they could not very handily draw full pay for full time unless they sort of hung around the court house and played seven-up between sessions.

Appleton Post: In this connection most Wisconsin people will note with great satisfaction the report from Washington that Senator Spooner has joined the tariff revisionists, as they will be delighted if the report is confirmed. That the senator would be a most valuable acquisition to the cause all will admit. And then should Senator Quarles be re-elected, as he is well entitled to be, Wisconsin would easily be the leader among states in the fight for tariff revision.

Milwaukee should be careful or it will become famous for other things. An alderman of that city has just received a year's sentence for taking a bribe.

As the Standard Oil officials "welcome investigation," Uncle Sam would be disconcerted not to gratify them by every means in his power.

WANTED TO KILL THEN GO TO PEN

THE POLICE ILLUSTRATED CHAS.
BOEHM'S BLOODY PLANS.

HOMANN'S SIDE OF STORY

Says He Was Attacked with a Knife at Outset and Used Lump of Coal in Defense.

In Municipal court this morning the examination of Charles Boehm, charged with cutting Charles Homann with a jack-knife at the corner of Galena and Academy streets just before six o'clock Saturday evening, was set for next Monday morning at ten o'clock. There was a large gallery on hand to hear the details of the case. Stories Do Not Agree

Boehm claims that he acted in self-defense, but his story does not agree with that of Homann. The latter says that he met Boehm in Herman Bugg's place shortly before their sanguinary encounter, but only staid there a few minutes. The two men appear to have left about the same time, Homann going up Dodge street to the high school, and Boehm proceeding down High to Cherry street. Homann claims that when he approached a point about four blocks from Dodge street, he saw Boehm waiting for him and that as he drew nearer, the latter said: "Hello — you! You want troubles?" At the same time Homann noticed a knife blade in Boehm's hand.

Seizes Chunk of Coal

Mr. Homann now provided himself, he says, with a chunk of coal, and approached the challenger. As he did so he claims that Boehm slashed at him with the knife, and that he brought the lump of coal down on his opponents' head. Boehm then alleged to have slashed him across the right wrist, and as he turned to flee, being now rendered almost helpless, to have cut five inch gash in his back, just below the shoulders. Friends of Homann, who appeared on the scene, hurried him to the office of Dr. Woods, where his wounds were dressed.

Did Not Surrender Himself

Boehm came up town, but with no idea of surrendering himself to the police. He provided himself with a 35-caliber revolver and a box of cartridges at one of the Milwaukee St. hardware stores. A few minutes thereafter he fell into the hands of acting chief Brown, who escorted him to the city hall. Boehm told his story, and after being relieved of the revolver was allowed to go with the understanding that he would keep the peace and appear at the city hall Monday.

Wanted To Shoot Homann

Yesterday afternoon, according to officer Brown, Boehm appeared at the city hall and demanded his firearms, stating that he was going to kill Homann and then go to Waupun. He passed this off in court this morning by saying that he was mad at the time. Officer Brown put him in the lock-up without further ceremony. This morning there was a large lump on the top of the prisoners' head, but his thirst for bloody revenge seemed to have slackened somewhat. He said that he and Homann first had trouble when they were working together in the grinding department of the Janesville Machine Co.'s plant two years ago. It seems that Homann made fun of Boehm's cows, at least this was one of the contributing factors to the feud which has since existed. Homann lives on Armour street, and Boehm dwells opposite the Milford residence in Monterey. The latter's ball, pending examination, was filed at $1,000.00. No one appeared to furnish the bonds, and he was taken to the county jail.

CHARGES ANARCHY
TO NEW MEMBER

MAY BE MADE TO STEP ASIDE

House May Take Action on Inflammatory Campaign Utterances by Successor to the Late Colonel Thompson—First Day's Session.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The sensation on the reassembling of congress is the strong effort being made to refuse admittance to the house of representatives of a member-elect from the Fifth congressional district of Alabama. This is J. Thomas Heflin, who was elected on Nov. 3 to serve out the unexpired term of Colonel Thompson, deceased. On Oct. 3, at Tuskegee, Ala., in the course of a bitter and inflammatory speech assailing the Republican party in general and Theodore Roosevelt in particular, he said:

"There they sat, Roosevelt and Booker, and if some Czolgosz or any of his kind had thrown a bomb under the table no great harm would have been done the country."

Other extracts from speeches of Heflin have been collected and have been placed before each member of the house, and in a letter signed by Asa E. Stratton of Montgomery, Ala., accompanying these extracts it is said:

Anarchy is Alleged.

"It is respectfully submitted that J. Thomas Heflin should not be permitted to take his seat in the house as the successor of the Hon. C. W. Thompson from the Fifth Alabama district, because of his anarchistic utterances during the late political campaign. In speaking of the presence of Professor Booker T. Washington, who ate luncheon with the president at the white house, he said:

"There they sat, Roosevelt and Booker, and if some Czolgosz or one of his kind had thrown a bomb under the table no great harm would have been done the country."

He further said in the same speech, in speaking of the possibility of Booker Washington taking part in the campaign: "Booker takes a hand in this thing. It will be one time I will ask to step out. I will ask him to keep hands off, and you know we have a way of influencing negroes down here."

Slurs Memory of McKinley.

"These are extracts from his reported speech in Tuskegee, Ala., during the campaign. It is also reported that he said on another occasion, in speaking of the Statesboro (Ga.) affair, that it was but a sending off of few more Republicans singing, 'Nearly, My God, to Thee,' a brutal allusion to the death of President McKinley. The extracts are but an index to the man's character and life."

The opinion which appears to prevail among members here is that Heflin is an unfit person to be in the house, but that to refuse him admittance would be to make a "martyr" of him, and thus gratify his taste for notoriety. It would not be surprising, however, if, when Heflin presents himself before the bar of the house to be worn in objection will be made, and, in the case of Roberts of Utah, he may have to stand aside and await the report of the elections committee as to whether he is a proper person to stand to membership.

CONGRESS MEETS.

First Day's Session Convenes at the National Capitol.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The third and first session of the Fifty-Eighth Congress convened at noon to-day. It exerts by constitutional limitation at 2 o'clock noon March 4, and its adjournment will be immediately followed by the inauguration ceremony.

The short session of this, as of preceding congresses, will be chiefly devoted to routine business. The passage of the appropriation bills and a few necessary measures is always regarded as all that can be reasonably expected of a short session. It is a proverb that no actual business is transacted until after the holidays. It is the custom to adjourn from Dec. 9 to Jan. 6; so the real session does not begin until after New Year's.

There was a readjustment of seats based on the deaths of Messrs. Quay and Hoar. The first senator to file an application for a vacant chair is entitled to it. There is no sentiment shown in making these claims. Mr. Quay is credited with having asked for Mr. Hoar's chair when it became apparent that no hope existed for his recovery. This is not regarded as anything unusual.

Senator Stone of Missouri telephoned several days before the recent elections, when it became certain to him that the state legislature would be Republican, making an application for Mr. Cuckrell's seat in front row. He will get it after March 4 next.

The usual committee was appointed to notify the president that congress is ready to transact business. It is unlikely that the readjustment of senate committees will be taken up in the short session. There will be general change when the next congress meets. Senator Platt of Connecticut likely will serve as temporary chairman of the judiciary committee.

Government for Canal Zone. The important legislation outside the appropriation bills will be considerable. Efforts will be made to enact bills for a permanent system of government on the Panama canal zone, but it will meet with much opposition.

The bill to further reduce duties on imports from the Philippines will encounter antagonism. It is uncertain whether the bill increasing the powers of the interstate commerce commission can be brought to a vote. All measures die with the session, and the efforts of senators and representatives will be directed to securing passage for their constituents, rather than general legislation. No further legislation can be expected, and tariff revision will be mentioned only in a whisper.

Bills on House Calendar.

The house has 113 bills on the calendar relating to public lands, Indian reservations and similar matters. The private pension bills on the house calendar number 450, and nearly 1,000 are awaiting action in committee.

Of the general bills now ready for action in congress 97 originated in the senate and 371 in the house.

The unfinished business of the senate is a bill to amend the act temporarily providing revenues for the Philippine Islands and to amend the act establishing a coinage system for the Islands. The president is expected in his message to call attention to the necessity for this legislation.

Protection to President.

Senator Hoar's last official act in the senate was to give notice that on Dec. 6 he would ask the senate to take up and consider until disposed of the bill to afford better protection for the president and those in line of succession. Senator Lodge will now attend to this notice.

Senator Hepburn has also given notice that on Dec. 8 he will call up his bill to prevent the misbranding of foods and drugs. Senator Fairbank has a bill which he will press at an early date to provide a building for the departments of state, justice, commerce and labor.

The question of expelling Senator Reed Smoot may come up before adjournment, but the impression prevails that this will be thrown over to the next long session.

BLIND FROM HEARTY LAUGHTER

Joke Causes Wealthy Man to Rupture Optic Blood Vessel.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 5.—Frederick L. Mordaunt of Woodbridge laughed so heartily at a joke that was told him at the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Tuttle in that town that he is in danger of losing his eyesight. Mr. Mordaunt in laughing caused a hemorrhage of the small optic veins and his physician has little hope that his sight can be restored. He is going to New York to consult with an eye specialist. Mr. Mordaunt is one of the wealthiest men in the town.

PAÑIC IN GOTHAM PLAYHOUSE

Cry of Fire and Smoke Through Windows Cause Stampede.

New York, Dec. 5.—Panics seized an audience in the Gotham theater during a performance Sunday afternoon when smoke from a bonfire outside blew into a window and a woman ran toward an exit shouting fire. Women and children made up the greater part of the audience. Many of them at once took up the cry and there was a rush for the street. Attached to the theater tried in vain to quiet the excitement. Almost the entire audience left the theater, yet no one was injured.

Jail for Kissing Sweetheart.

Towanda, Pa., Dec. 5.—Gilbert Johnson was sentenced to fifteen days in jail for kissing his sweetheart on the cheek. After taking her home he spent so much time bidding her farewell that neighbors complained. He was given his choice of a fine of $7.50 or fifteen days in jail, and he chose the jail.

Five Years for Embezzler.

Lima, O., Dec. 5.—P. O. Woods, secretary of the Lima Home and Savings Association, who was found guilty of embezzling over $25,000, and who forbade his attorneys to ask for a new trial, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

Bank Robber Pleads Guilty.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Dec. 5.—Karl Karrer, accused of robbing the bank of Treynor, Iowa, pleaded guilty to the charge. He forced Miss Francis Flood, assistant cashier, at the point of a revolver, to hand him $1,522 of the bank's cash.

Death Due to Feud.

Sumner, Miss., Dec. 5.—Smith Murphy, one of the richest planters in the Mississippi delta, was killed by Jerry Robinson, also a wealthy planter. The murder, it is said, is the result of an old feud.

Confesses to Murder.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 5.—William Nichols, sentenced to be electrocuted Dec. 9 for killing Alfred Minard at Kenton in July, 1903, has confessed claiming that he shot Minard in self-defense.

Explosion Kills Fireman.

Salt Lake, Utah, Dec. 5.—Through the blowing out of the arch flue in an Oregon Short Line engine at Farmington, near here, Fireman Bartlett, whose home was in Beloit, Wis., was killed.

Where Women Vote.

The question has been asked so many times, "Do the better class of women vote in Colorado?" and it has been so variably and contradictorily answered that The Tribune decided to settle the question for its readers in an authoritative manner, and caused a representative to visit the different polling places in Denver to find out as an actual fact what proportion and what class of women were represented at the polls. Never was there more beautiful election day in Denver than that of November 8th. It was warm, sunny, and still, with a sky like an inverted bowl of clearest turquoise, and a balmy air more like that of May than November.

Early in the morning there was an unusual stir upon the streets of Denver, and before 9 o'clock streams of men and women, carriages, bicycles and automobiles were setting toward the polling places. At one polling place in the Tenth Ward, the so-called "ilk stocking precinct," 286 votes had been cast before 10 o'clock, a large proportion of them being cast by women.

Election day in Denver is regarded as rather a gala occasion, and young men and women, old men and old women turned out to vote as if they enjoyed it. Many men, before going to their business for the day, made point of accompanying their wives to vote, and this was, perhaps, the reason why in the early morning hours one was obliged to stand in line before one could get a booth in which to prepare a ballot.

From Capitol Hill to Market St., from the far outlying districts of the city to the densely populated precincts of the downtown part every polling place was visited. As is usual thing, the booths were arranged in vacant storerooms, or new buildings, sometimes in a suburban drug store, sometimes in the front room of an unoccupied residence, and in one or two instances in unused rooms of prebent houses.

It was a noticeable fact that in every instance—no matter in what part of the town—the polling places were located in clean, respectable, well ventilated quarters, such as any woman might visit with impunity, and were universally quiet, orderly and unobjectionable. In the Tenth Ward, Fifth Precinct, the polling place resembled the approach of the scene of a fashionable reception. Carriages and automobiles thronged the street, and fashionably dressed men and women came and went, stopping to joke and visit upon the pavement, sometimes to compare notes and discuss seriously the issues of the campaign.

A notable feature of the day—and one which was particularly striking to a stranger in Colorado—was the arrival of the family parties at the polls. In many instances carriages and automobiles drew up at the curb, and father, mother, sons, daughters—sometimes grandfather or grandmother—went into the polling places to vote together. There were constantly arriving parties on foot, husbands and wives, brothers and sisters, often an aged mother leaning on the arm of her son. In fact, as one drove about the city and saw the people going and coming from the polls one might easily imagine that it was Sunday, and tranquil family parties were going to or coming home from church. In every polling place of the respectable residence part of Denver there were women voting, many of them accompanied by their husbands—often by their children—some alone and some in company with other women.

Occasionally one would come upon a group of women in earnest discussion, and now and then upon one who was being "electrified." But this was a feature of which the reporter saw little. Almost every woman who went to the polls seemed to have her mind thoroughly made up how she was going to vote, and in the most business way—and in a manner which indicated that she had done it many times before—she would march into a booth mark her ticket and deposit her ballot in the ballot box.

Passing from the upper wards of the city through Wards Six and Seven, Three and Four, the scene was widely different. Here and there small groups were gathered, but there was no rioting, no boisterous behavior anywhere. Here the voters did not arrive at the polling places in carriages or automobiles, and the social, lighthearted aspect of the hill was not to be seen. Men and women went to the polls calmly, seriously, as if they had a grave duty to perform. The women with shawls, or the ever present white woolen crocheted "fusilliator" over their heads, the men in their laboring clothes, and with their pipes in their mouths. But here, too, the family party was everywhere present, and at every polling place men and their wives, brothers and their sisters, sons and their mothers went to the polls together.

The wife of the laboring man, as well as her more wealthy sisters of the hill, has read and observed, and has her own opinion on the issues, and she went to the ballot box well prepared to vote them.

Here and there a carriage load of the demi-monde of the city was seen to drive up to the polling places. But as is usual thing, the disreputable women of the state do not want to vote, and will not if they can get out of it. Few of them have any party affiliations or political convictions, they know little of the issues, are not interested in the outcome, and do not wish to lose friends by voting for either side. Occasionally, when an election is liable to be close, they are obliged to vote in order to obtain police protection, and sometimes they vote individually on account of personal prejudice, but it is universally acknowledged by all ward workers that it is almost impossible to get them to go to the polls, and the writer was informed by one old political worker that it is rather than go to the polls he had known whole colonies of the disreputable women to leave the city on election day. This is not only the history of the demi-monde of Denver, but of Cripple Creek, Victor and other portions of the state as well.

Throughout the entire state this year the vote polled was an exceptionally large one, and the women's vote the largest that has ever been registered in Colorado.—New York Tribune.
